A Eutogy of Woman by "Mark Twatn."

At the dinner given by the Correspondents' Glub at Washington, on Saturdy vishit, "Mark Tyain" was ested on to respond to the u-ut toset to "Woman," which he did in the following characteristic style:

"Mr. President: I do not know why I should have been simpled out to receive the greatest distinction of the evening—for so the office of replying to the toset to woman has been regarded in every age. [Applause.] I do not know will have received this di-thiedon, indies it be that I am a triffe less homely than the other members of the club. But be this as it may, Mr. President, I am proud of the position, and you could not have chosen say one who would be two accepted in more glady, or labored with a heartfer good-will to do the subject justice, than I. Because, str., I fore theses. [Laughter.] I have all the women, sir arrespective of age or color. [Lushier] "Himman intelligence cannot estimate what we owe to woman, sir. She sews on our instross [laughter], she incould our clothers [haughter], she ropes us in at the church fairs—she conflicts in as; she telly us whatever she can flad out about the little private alians of the not-abors; she gives us good advice—and plenty of it; she gives us a piece of her mind sometimes—and sometimes all of it; she soothes our aching brows; she bears our children—ours as a general thing. In all the relations of life, sir, it is but just and a graceful riphone to woman or say of her that she is a brick. [Great laughter]

dent be in, these days! He is in much the same plight as the classical Mr. Tantalus. Tantalus vas devoured with hunger, but the tempting fruit spon watch he ferster his eyes, only tempted his gersp to clode and muck it. So with our unfortunate President. What is his position good for, if he is denied the gratification of either rewarding his friends or punishing his enemies? But to this complexion it has come at last. He can in luige to neither his indevotent or benevolent propensities. Even M. ade has proved a broken reed for him to lean on; he is more indocile and intentiale than even Pope. He must be placed in the same category and "black list" with Sikles and Stanton. Made, like the rest of the White House marryrs, will persist in reading the Reconstruction act through the spectacles of Congress. But nearer home, the case is no better: Stanton walks unhidden into the Cabinet him torch. He comot shake him off any more than Sindbul could distudge from his shoulder the Old Mon of the Sev. He is Lis official adciser, and he must hold official relations with blin, which involve of course more or less of nersunal intercourse and contact. After what each must find the other's society. When we take into account their both possess combative dispositions and obstinacy of will in a marked degree, that each is the authoriof the other's intridation, and have each other as they do hell's pains, we can imagine that their society will not much resemble the "loves of the angels." But this is not the only hardship in the President's crooked lot. Congress proposes to administer to the President a still more nauscating draught in the shape of a bill supplemental to the Recontruction law. These are its features: 1. The Bouningh di Robbert - $210 000 Carried Oil-Three Men Arreste (on sus-What an ambile frame of mind most the Pres nicim In our issue of yesterday morning, we altuded briefly to the robbery at the house of Mr. John Benginghoff, nose Petroleum Centre. To-div we are in possession of further particulars, and it is proved to have been a most during and successful affilir which for the coolness and deliberation displayed by the vitiales who perpetrated it and for the large among of money they se cured, has seldom been equalled outside of the large cities. The manner in which the robbery was conducted, as well as the preparations that were made to justice success, show it was the result of fully actured plans, and that the perpe-trators were well accordanted with the habus of the family. At no other time, probably than at the hone the rothery was committed, would such a favorable opportunity be presented. Mr. Joseph Benninghoff was at church, and although quite dark it was too early for the lamily to make the usual preparations, such as scenting the doors, windows, &c., for passing the night. Mr Benaluzhoff shouse is skuued in a corner formed by the junction of two couds, and I sabout a quar-ter of a mile distant from agy other dwelling --There were five men, who it has been a cent and participated in the robbery near the house. The particulars of the affair are substimitably as fol-lows:

Shortly after 7 o'clock, the family consisting of

Mr. John Benninghoff, his wife, and niege, and two hired men, were sitting in the kirchen, when the

of these men were of medium sizes and the fourth was tall and heavy, and a lof them, were misked with handkerchiefs, cloths or comforters. On entering the room the men drew pistols and pre-senting them at the heads or breasts of the louily, threatened them with immediate death if they should make the least noise. So completely we the family taken by surprise that but little resistence was offered except by Mr. Benningh ff, who cried out lastily on their first appearance. The first ery that he raised had scarcely left his lips when he was attacked, by one of the ruffi tus, who was soon assisted by one or two of the others. Mr. Benninghoff is now in his sixty seventh year, but notwith-standing his advanced age, be is still possessed of considerable strength, and however, entirely inndequate to cope with that of two or three in ddle aged men, and he was soon thrown to the floor. The ruffins then struck him in Proglace and stamped on various parts of his body, and then half drugged, hal eartied bim to an actuining bod room. All this line Mr. B. was by no means lidle, but was putling forth his best curie wors to escape, and to ittract attention from the outside. After the got Mr. B somewhat under their control, they tled his arms and legs and threw him on the be t end wrapped the bedelottes fightly about him Pacy then rifled his packets and took from one of them life pocket-book, continuing a small amount of money and a lay o one of the safes.

White Mr. Benninghoff was struggling with nd the two hired man, and they were soon field in the chairs in which they set, at the time when the robbers first made their appearance and in a very brief space of time they found themselves in a belpless condition. During the ricas, Mis.
